

Terrafiniti

Helping you navigate the complexity of sustainability and deliver practical, ambitious and meaningful results.

Terrafiniti is a dedicated sustainability management consultancy specialising in strategy development, sustainability & ESG management, benchmarking, competitive analysis, disclosure and responsible communications.

What are the business benefits?

We work with our clients to identify sustainability risks and opportunities and develop strategic responses that meet stakeholder requirements, help you maintain and win business and match strategic insight with practical action. Working with us allows you to:

- ◇ Clarify and drive strategy
- ◇ Innovate and drive efficiency
- ◇ Develop resilience and capacity
- ◇ Create truly sustainable value.

How do you provide support?

Only in ways that make sense for you - including:

- ◇ Getting focus - understanding what issues and trends matter for your company
- ◇ Developing strategies and practical action plans to manage the issues that present risks and opportunities
- ◇ Helping you develop a compelling sustainability narrative, why it matters for your business, how it fits your purpose and builds value.

Who are Terrafiniti?

Partners Dominic & Joss are two brothers, both qualified and recognised sustainability specialists with 45+ years collective international experience working for companies, charities, government and universities.

Our mix of strategic insight and operational emphasis is a key strength that helps align everyday practice with business priorities. Our clients have included global NGOs, some of the world's biggest companies and national and international institutions.

terrafiniti®

Who have we worked with?

Our support, consultancy and training has been delivered in the UK, Europe, and throughout the world to organisations large and small.

"It was clear right from the beginning that Terrafiniti understood the needs and challenges of our organisation. Their work is all about providing solutions to those needs and challenges in realistic and pragmatic ways.

Their technical skills and expertise are second to none, and Joss is very able to work with people from all levels of an organisation, from executives to managers, engaging and enthusing people along the way.

Terrafiniti honestly care about the bigger picture, and that shines through in every conversation and meeting I have had with them. Their approach is underpinned by a solid integrity that I find both inspiring and reassuring."

Anna Frizzell, Sustainability Manager, RNLI

"The impact of Terrafiniti's work with us has been significant. For the first time we have a strategy that's built on research and evidence and speaks to the core values of what we are about as a business.

We have always been passionate about sustainability and believed we had very good practices in place, but it was clear that there were areas we needed to look at and areas where we needed help.

As a result of our work with Terrafiniti we are now able to speak to our customers - both existing and new ones - about sustainability practices in much more depth, which is helping our business grow in the way we want it to and, crucially, helping us add value for our customers.

We couldn't have achieved this without the valued input from Terrafiniti."

Suhale Vorajee, Group Marketing Director, 3StepIT

"Terrafiniti supported us by running bespoke workshops for our team to deepen and upskill our understanding about sustainability. These explored the fundamentals of sustainability, what was most important to 8020 Communications as a company, and what would support us to give great advice to our clients.

We found Terrafiniti excellent to work with. They bring with them years and years of expertise and experience. It's clear they are absolutely committed to sustainability, but they are also very realistic and understand the needs of business and how to talk to companies about the unique challenges that they face.

We continue to work with them and are proud that our partnership is such that they now work directly with some of our clients as sustainability advisors, providing expertise and support where needed.

Marc Cornelius, Founder/CEO 8020 Communications

Intersnack

Intersnack Procurement, Netherlands

Terrafiniti helped Intersnack build their sustainability strategy and provided ongoing support for development and implementation. As a result, they can powerfully demonstrate sustainability ambition, commitments and achievements. The strategy identified significant financial savings and helped secure preferred supplier status with a major customer.

Clarks

Providing ongoing strategic advice and insights to this global footwear brand, we have supported strategy development, dedicated training and flexible guidance to drive the focus and delivery of sustainability ambition.

Hallmark UK & Ireland

We worked with the globally recognised greetings and gifts company to provide a strategic review of the business and help develop an integrated sustainability strategy including a full materiality assessment through research, online survey and workshops with senior leadership. Ongoing support includes strategic advisory and responsible communications.

Lifeboats

RNLI

The RNLI is a UK charity, dedicated to saving lives at sea. We provided guidance and strategic advice for the development of their approach to materiality assessment including wide-reaching stakeholder engagement.
